Men have been stroyed, Poland, stroyed Poland, stroyed Poland, but her women have stood guard at the gates of their country. It was she who preserved patriotism and honor in spite of Siberia and what is worse, the lash, to the everlasting disgrace of the Russian government. NEW YORK, April 25.—Frederick R. Coudert, who is recognized as leading in practice of international law in this country, when asked for his views of the report that force would be used to compel Nicaragua to accede to Great Britain's demand, Mr. Coudert said: "If I were an enemy of Great Britain I would be glad if she did. Our people don't want bombardments by foreign people on this continent. Whether it is against the Monroe doctrine or not, American people have a strong feeling on that subject. They don't like to see a big nation bullying a little nation, even if the big nation is the United States and the little one Chile. Bombardment of helpless nations is at the best brutal and expensive. It may turn out that the expense may be greater to Great Britain than to Nicaragua."

"The most painful part of it is that a great government should deliberately step backward. The whole sentiment of the world is against a settlement of disputes by the old fashioned way of war, and arbitration is growing to be the hope of civilization. As the century closes I cannot help thinking that this coercion on the part of a powerful nation against a weak one, which might result in war, is worse than a blunder—it is a crime."
